Security reviews on one new feature in a single evening.

47

Automated tests on its final version, all passing.

0

Changes to the live server. It waits for a person's yes.

Game 1

Brewers host the Dodgers tonight, 7:00 p.m.

BUILT TODAY

For a local painter: a path so an estimate booked on the scheduling calendar lands on the owner's job board. Built and tested, waiting for the owner.

A way to track crew hours on each job, so a small business can see where its time goes against the quote.

A calmer job board, with cleaner cards and a calendar you can read on a phone.

THE RULE

Every piece of the calendar link was tested on a copy of the server first. The real machine changes only when a person says yes.

HONEST LESSON

Our reviewer sent the last piece back twice in 16 minutes. Each version got safer by doing less.

WATCHING

Next: one sitting with the owner to switch the calendar link on, then one real appointment checked on a phone.

Written Sunday morning from Saturday's records.
